CYCLED

This collection represents the future: a future where sustainability, sport, fashion and artisanal production blend together to reach the complexity of simplicity. An object like a racing bike tyre created to withstand extreme performances, is transformed into unique and comfortable accessories with a resistance that lasts longer than the initial reason of production. Cycled will take you into the world of creative reuse with a style that reflect the Italian design showing which side you are standing for, wearing your passion.

Why we choose only Racing Bike Tyres?

Because:

Racing Bike Tyres are products with very high standards studied and produced with the "racing department level". It must be very light and thin but at the same time very resistant at pressures that reach 7-8bar.
(car tires are usually 2,5bar).

Technical:

Each tread is reinforced with kevlar therefore guarantees an extreme resistance. It's expression become functional on the size holes, they will never rip off!

Uniqueness:

We consider each piece unique as it is used by a cyclist for distances ranging about 4000km, that's because each item is numbered with progressive count, to continue to respect the true value of uniqueness.

Aesthetic:

Tyres are designed for the road surface so each tread looks back to reptile skin and therefore much more intriguing than every other regular bike tire.

Functionality:

Due to the pairing of rubber and fibers, each belt is lightly elastic and it will follow any movement of your regular life.
